INTERNATIONAL CRITICAL COMMENTARY on the Holy Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments. Under the present editorship of The Rev. FRANCIS BROWN, D. D., L. Litt., L L. D , and the Rev. ALFRED PLUMMER, M. A., D. D., planned and for years edited by the late Prof. C. A. BRIGGS, D.D., in America, and Prof. S. R. DRIVER, D.D., and Rev. ALFRED PLUMMER, D D. in Great Britain.

This Commentary is international and inter-confessional, and is free from polemical and ecclesiastical bias. It is based upon a thorough critical study of the original texts of the Bible, and upon critical methods of interpretation. It is designed chiefly for students and clergymen, and will be written in a compact style. Historical and Archaeological questions, as well as questions of Biblical Theology, are included in the plan of the Commentary, but not Practical or Homiletical Exegesis. The volumes constitute a uniform series.

THE SPECTATOR COMPANY

THE SPECTATOR COMPANY are the sole agents in the United States for the old-established and well-known house of Charles & Edwin Layton, of London, England, whose publications on fire, life and marine insurance, annuities, friendly and building societies, etc., are among the most valuable and standard treatises ever issued.

THE INSURANCE CYCLOPÆDIA.

By the late CORNELIUS WALFORD, F.I.A., F.S.S., Barrister-at-Law, author of THE INSURANCE GUIDE AND HAND-BOOK, INSURANCE YEAR BOOK, etc. This work is the result of many years of labor, supplemented by the facilities furnished its author by long practical experience and rare adaptation to the task he had undertaken. It is a Dictionary of the definition of terms used in connection with the theory and practice of insurance. A Biographical Summary of the lives of all those who have contributed to the development of insurance. A Bibliographical Summary of all works written upon the subject of insurance and its associate sciences. An Historical Treasury of Insurance; and finally it gives a Detailed Account of the Rise and Progress of Insurance in Europe and America. By a special arrangement with the author, THE SPECTATOR COMPANY possess the copyright for the United States, and are the exclusive publishers of the work in this country. Eight parts make a volume of about the size of an ordinary law book of 700 pages. Parts 1 to 41 (making Vols. I. to V. inclusively, and one part of Vol. VI.) had been issued up to date, which completes the work to letters HERE. The death of Mr. Walford brought this, his greatest work, to an end at this point, but the volumes already printed are invaluable to insurance men.

SPECIAL OFFER.

The English publishers of this most valuable work recently reduced the price of the Cyclopædia (as far as published) considerably below the usual selling price, for a limited period only, in order to gain warehouse space. Price, Five Volumes and Part I. of Volume VI. (express charges to be paid by purchaser), $10.50.

Publications of the British Fire Prevention Committee

The "British Fire Prevention Committee" of London has recently undertaken the publication of a series of pamphlets for the purpose of directing public attention to the protection of life and property from fire. Recent experiences in great conflagrations have aroused public feeling abroad to an unusual degree upon the subject of fires, and the press, fire underwriters, legislators, and individuals have united to point out the perils that exist in the faulty construction of buildings in the old cities of Europe and the lack of proper means of protection from conflagrations. The "British Fire Prevention Committee" is doing much to educate the public in this regard and the series of pamphlets it has issued or has in preparation are valuable contributions for the purpose in view.

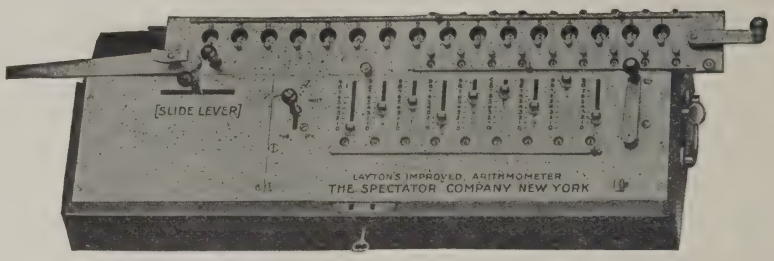
Layton's Improved Arithmometer

Standard Lightweight Machine



A Perfected Calculating Machine of Established Reputation

The value and importance of a first-class and trustworthy calculating machine to actuaries, statisticians, accountants and others dealing with mathematical problems has long been conceded. Such a machine is a great labor and time saver, while the relief it affords from wearying brain work is incalculable.

LAYTON'S IMPROVED ARITHMOMETER

fills all the requirements of such a machine, and the large number in use bear daily testimony to their effectiveness. Insurance companies find this machine of particular value in their daily work and during the many years the original model has been in use it has given universal satisfaction. Valuable improvements in the new model, adding greatly to its efficiency, coupled with the high quality of its workmanship, make this the best and most advanced calculating machine on the market. The above illustration fairly shows its construction and method of operation.

IMPORTANT FEATURES INTRODUCED IN THE NEW MODEL

Lightness.—Without in any way impairing the strength, durability, or reliability of the machine, it has been found possible to produce an Arithmometer of one half the weight of the ordinary model, which is, therefore, much more convenient to carry No alteration has been made in the size or shape of the instrument. The metal is non-rusting and not affected by acids. It is, therefore, particularly suitable for hot or wet climates. Machines constructed of this metal work with the minimum of noise and are light running.

The Markers.—Hitherto markers have been set to the figures required, one by one, and have been returned to zero in like manner. The new invention allows these operations to be performed as before; but, in addition, a button is provided, on pressing which, all the markers return to zero at once. Thus, several operations are combined most conveniently in one, and a fruitful source of error to following calculations avoided. The working parts of this device makes it almost impossible for a marker to rest between two figures.

Show Holes in connection with the last invention have been added, so that the figures can be more quickly set by the markers and more easily checked.

The Slide Lever.—To move the slide in previous models of the Arithmometer required two distinct movements, viz.: to raise and to propel. By means of an arrangement now invented, this double movement is performed by simply pulling a lever. The slide can be moved in either direction and automatically falls into its correct position.

The Regulator.—Hitherto the handle has been actuated by the left hand, which is also needed for the slide. In practice this has been found to be inconvenient, particularly when the short method of multiplication is used. The new invention provides a method by which the Regulator can be controlled by the right hand, as well as by the left hand as hitherto.

Decimal Markers.—Bars with sliding indicators have been added to each series of figures in place of the loose pegs hitherto provided for decimal points.

Minor Improvements will be found in the clutch arrangement to the left of the slide, in the greater slope given to the machine and in the design of the case.

PRICE OF LAYTON'S IMPROVED ARITHMOMETER

Machine Giving Sixteen Figures in Product, $300

Responsible corporations and individuals may order this machine on 10 days' trial.

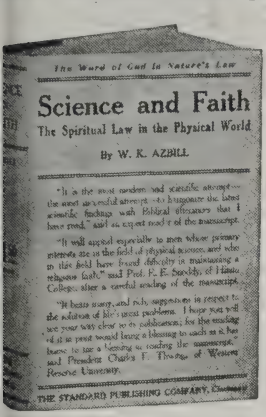
AZBILL, W. K.

Science and Faith

The Spiritual Law in the Physical World. Cloth, vo, illustrated. Price, postpaid, $1.50.



The author of this work was equipped by experience as minister, educator and missionary for a broad and varied view of the relations of science and religion. His scientific studies in particular led him to examination of the most recent discoveries in the realm of nature. He has kept his mind open to the progress of thought in all matters affecting our knowledge of the world. Questions such as that of the ether of space, of matter and electricity, of the nature of gravitation and the ultimate causes of planetary motion, of the essence of life, as well as its terrestrial functions and higher possibilities, have claimed his careful attention, and he has not shrunk from considering the most radical theories advanced regarding them. Among these stand the assumption hat there is an almighty life (inclusive, of course, of a mind) ehind the world, and that it alone can serve as the ground id solution of its facts and phenomena. Mechanistic ieories of the universe such as that of Prof. Jacques Loeb re according to him inconsistent with the very results the scientific sphere reached by their advocates.—The ontinent.

A novel that deals, with unusual vigor and power, with the religious unbelief of the day and its cure. The hero—with the glowing confidence and sublime faith of youth—enters the university with high ideals and undaunted purposes. Here his faith is chilled by the sophistries of the New Theology. The plot is an account of his wanderings in the mazes of this form of infidelity, and his final redemption.

"The charm of its unsullied love story, its unique plot, playful humor, its Christian breadth of view and its skillful portrayal of social and religious conditions, ake this book a captivating piece of literature."—Cynthiana emocrat.

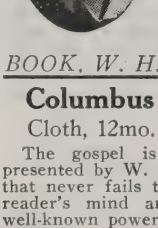
Illustrious Chinese Christians

A Brief Treatise on the Customs, Superstitions and Religions of the Chinese People. Cloth, 12mo. Price, postpaid, $1.00.



A stimulating and thought provoking treatise on the efficiency of the gospel in China. It is very doubtful whether or not there is any record of devotion or self-sacrifice in either profane or sacred history that this fascinating series of twenty-two Chinese biographies will not parallel. The persecutions and martyrdom which these Chinese converts suffered will inspire real missionary enthusiasm and create apostolic activity in any community where this book is circulated.

BOOK, W. H.

Columbus Tabernacle Sermons, Vol. I.

Cloth, 12mo. Price, postpaid, $1.00.

The gospel is always attractive when presented by W. H. Book. It is a message that never fails to quicken into action the reader's mind and heart. This author's well-known powers of oratory, his profound grasp of the teachings of Jesus and his apostles, his fearlessness in condemning wrong and error, his virile, forceful style and his unique personality, are well preserved in every line. These sermons were not written in a study, but were stenographically reported as the burning words were uttered by this master preacher, under the inspiration of the great audience which flocks to hear him every week.

Columbus Tabernacle Sermons, Vol. II.

Cloth, 12mo. Price, postpaid, $1.00.

A companion volume to the author's first book of sermons. Reported in the same way and published because of the unusual demand the first volume created.

"I pronounce W. H. Book's second 'Tabernacle Sermons' the strongest and most Scriptural our people have ever produced. The second book follows logically in order, being directed to the church-member, and treats of great spiritual themes that build the church up and feed the flock. It should be in every minister's library who aspires to be a preacher with power."—D. R. Dungan.

The Indiana Pulpit

Edited by W. H. Book. Cloth, 12mo. Price, postpaid, $1.00.

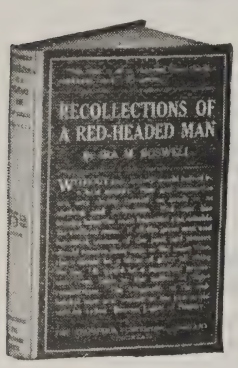
This series of twenty-two practical sermons, each discourse being the best one preached by as many leading Indiana preachers, presents vital Christianity in a most attractive way. The author has condensed, with unusual discrimination and taste, the message of such widely known preachers as Z. T. Sweeney, James Small, T. J. Legg, etc. A photograph and brief biography of each contributor precedes every chapter.

"'The Indiana Pulpit' will be especially helpful to young preachers. The topics are varied and the discourses are from men of learning and experience. It will make each one who reads it better, and it will strengthen the faith of all who carefully peruse its pages."—George A. Miller.

BOSWELL, IRA M.

The Recollections of a Red-headed Man

Cloth, 12mo. Price, postpaid, 75c.



Here is something new under the sun—a really humorous work. Not since the publishing of Bill Nye's famous "History of the United States" has there appeared a book containing more spontaneous wit and homely philosophy. Its laughable anecdotes and quaint humor make it a book that will be read over and over again with an ever-increasing delight.

I thank you for the loan of the MS., "Recollections of a Red-headed Man." I read it, and I must say that I am indebted to you for one of the most enjoyable afternoons I have ever spent. It is better than "Mark Twain" or "Bill Nye."—B. M. Crabtree.

It helps folks to appreciate that they live in a world of humor. It is splendidly written, and is one of the best aids for digestion I have found.—P. H. Welshimer, Canton, O.

BOTELER, MATTIE M.

The story of the rise and fall of their ambitions will teach the boy many valuable lessons while thoroughly entertaining him.

Like as We Are

A charming narrative of the fishing regions of the Northeast. Seldom has a story of unswerving devotion to high principle and sublime self-sacrifice been told with greater power. The hero—a gifted young man—resolutely turns his back upon the avenues that tend to wealth and luxury to use his exceptional talent in converting an out-of-the-way fishing-camp. This story embodies the high ideals and noble purposes so necessary to hold up before the youth of this pleasure-loving and materialistic age.

The Evolution of Juliet

Cloth, 12mo. Price, postpaid, 75c.

In this delightful story the reader will find a positive solution to one of the great questions of the day. The heroine—an unsophisticated orphan country girl—goes into the city to carve out her future. Miss Boteler tells the history of the evolution of her ideals and her complete redemption from the snares that beset her way. It demonstrates, as few stories have ever done better, the redeeming power of Christianity. The transformation of this simple country girl into a noble Christian woman, in the face of the forces of evil, can not fail to prove an absorbing story which will warn and direct as well as entertain its youthful readers.

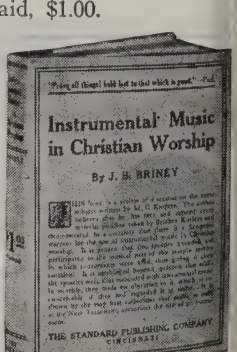
BRINEY, J. B.

Instrumental Music in Christian Worship

Cloth, 12mo. Price, postpaid, $1.00.



This book is a review and refutation of "Instrumental Music in the Worship," by M. C. Kurfees. The author demonstrates a Scripture warrant for the use of instrumental music in Christian worship. That the apostles attended and participated in the musical part of the temple services in which instruments were used, thus giving it their sanction, is clearly shown. Quotations of leading authorities prove beyond refutation that psallo, as used in the New Testament, authorizes the use of an instrument.

"Instrumental music in the worship is a subject that I have examined carefully from both standpoints. I must say your work upon this theme is the strongest, greatest and most complete vindication of the affirmative side I have ever seen."—Jas. A. Stevens, Burnet, Tex.

BROWN, W. H.

"One of the most interesting and thrilling stories I have read in many years."—R. F. Tisdale. "Will H. Brown proves by 'The Call to Service' to be a second Ralph Connor."—James Small.

The "Golden Key" is an emblem of love for one's fellows—a key that unlocks all hearts and brings peace wherever used. Around a beautiful tradition, going back to the days of Indian occupation of the country, the gifted author has woven a romance of unusual power. The reader of this delightful story can hardly fail to fall under the spell of the author's enthusiasm and begin an earnest quest for a golden key of his own which will serve as an open sesame to the hearts of his fellows.

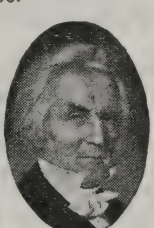
CAMPBELL, ALEXANDER

The Christian System

Cloth, 12mo. Price, postpaid, $1.00.



A philosophic study of man's nature and its demands and a defense of primitive Christianity as the only power to properly develop that nature and meet its highest demands. In this remarkable discussion Mr. Campbell summarizes the basic principles of the current movement for Christian unity, and carefully outlines its program for the restoring of apostolic Christianity. He submits a rational and Scriptural basis for the unity of the religious world. Because of the present widespread revival of interest in religion, and especially in Christian union, his work is as universally applicable to-day as it was when its gifted author wrote it.

Here we see his brilliant mind, his broad sympathies and his marvelous dialectic skill focused upon social, moral and educational problems, and the result is a work that can not fail to foster faith and widen the mental and spiritual horizon of the reader.

The Christian Preacher's Companion

Limp cloth, 16mo. Price, postpaid, 50c.

In this remarkable compilation Mr. Campbell makes the utterances of the most famous infidels as well as unbelieving Jews and pagans sustain the fundamental facts of the gospel. It is doubtful if such an array of argument for the living origin of Christianity can be found anywhere else in such a small compass. This brilliant treatment of the works of the enemies of the faith will enable any one to defend the hope that is within him.

Cloth, 12mo. Price, postpaid, 75c.

Cloth, 12mo. Price, postpaid, $1.00.

In this trenchant work the various erroneous teachings and fad beliefs of to-day are, one after the other, rigorously subjected to the supreme tests of Bible truth and Christian experience. The author's keen logic penetrates the veneer of these false teachings and reveals them in all their sordid ugliness. They are submitted to the mercilessly analytic powers of this master champion of the truth, who weighs them in the scales of truth and finds them wanting. For the insidious poisons that are daily being administered to the public as religion, this book furnishes a thoroughly effective antidote. Among the subjects treated are: Mormonism, Spiritualism, Christian Science, Mohammedanism, Witchcraft, Russellism, etc.

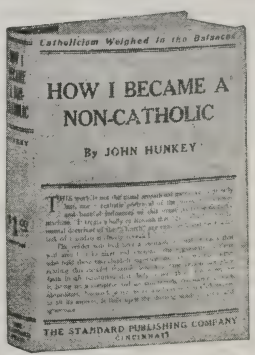
HUNKEY, JOHN

How I Became a Non-Catholic

Cloth, 12mo. Price, postpaid, $1.00.



This book weighs Roman Catholic teaching in the balances. It is not the usual sensational narrative of priestly lust nor a realistic portrayal of the ambitions and baneful influences of this great politico-ecclesiastic machine. It treats solely of Romish theology. The author, an ex-Catholic, clearly reveals the utter lack of foundation for the teachings of Rome, either in reason or revelation. His work is an arsenal of facts that fully meet the arguments of those defending these childish superstitions. It is doubtful if any other book on the subject proves more conclusively that Catholicism is built upon the shifting sands of error and ignorance.

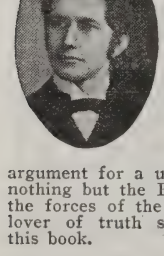
LUTZ, HENRY F.

To Infidelity and Back

Art boards, 16mo. Price, postpaid, 75c.



In this brilliant autobiography of a soul in the search after truth, the author, who is one of the most successful evangelists of the day, exposes, with an inexorable logic, the sophistries upon which the infidelity of to-day is built. Having traveled over the rocky path of despair, and having eaten the husks of unbelief, he speaks with the authority of experience. The work is a most convincing and satisfactory apology for Jesus Christ as the Son of God, his church as the only redeeming institution in the world, and the Bible as the only safe and sure guide in faith and practice. It is an unanswerable argument for a united church, whose plea is the Bible, and nothing but the Bible, as the only agency that can conserve the forces of the churches and regenerate mankind. Every lover of truth should thoroughly master the contents of this book.

Cloth, 16mo. Price, postpaid, 50c.

A popular discussion of the trial of Jesus before the Jewish and Roman tribunals. The author, a leading lawyer in Iowa, brings to his task a well-trained legal mind. He clearly demonstrates that in condemning Jesus the judges violated every principle of Jewish law and displayed a wanton disregard for every principle of justice. He proves, beyond all doubt, that the evidence submitted against him was so contradictory that it had absolutely no foundation, and that the entire proceedings were farcical and a willful perversion of all established precedents. Every believer should read this book. It throws a new light on the moral grandeur displayed by Jesus in the face of the baldest and most indefensible injustice ever meted out by human judges.

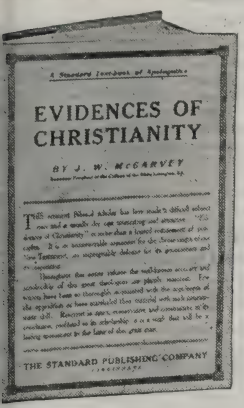
Evidences of Christianity



Cloth, 8vo. Price, postpaid, $1.50.

A standard text-book of apologetics. This notable work is much more than a formal statement of principles; it is an unanswerable argument for the divine origin of our New Testament and an impregnable defense for its genuineness and its inspiration. The thought of these lessons is to thread our way through the entire Old Testament narrative in a way that will make clearer to many the ongoing of our God. There is no pretense to anything but A. B. Cloth, 12mo. Price, postpaid, $1.00.

Probably not since the New Testament itself was written has the Christian world had so primitively pure a presentation of the teachings of Jesus. Signed J. B. R., London, Jan. 1, 1897. The work is throughout characterized by scrupulous care and general excellence. It is an extremely literal translation; the drift, point and emphasis of the original—the very feeling of the Greek—being clearly discernible in English. Familiar passages thus appear in fresh and often picturesque form; the text is displayed on the page in a manner that shows at a glance narrative and speech. Section headings assist the eye, and the accompanying indications of parallel passages in the other Gospels invite comparison therewith. Quotations from the Old Testament are printed in italics, and a valuable introductory note on the interpretation of the Bible precedes the first Gospel. The only authorized edition.

It may add to the interest of the readers of these chapters to know that they are the last written words of the earnest life and devoted student whose name they bear. During the last few months of his life the writer of these chapters enjoyed a somewhat unusual period of leisure. About this time a friend lent him one of the large volumes containing a summary of the teaching of the Lord's Supper, from the first century to our own times. As a result, there followed a series of discourses, delivered on Lord's Day morning, and once again, as the desire, the pen was taken in hand to condense into permanent form the substance of the spoken addresses."—Foreword.

He deals most helpfully and convincingly with the subject of preaching and gives sound advice to all who desire to preach with effectiveness; but he includes all Christians in the 'work of ministering,' and has something to say to parents and neighbors as to their privileges and responsibilities."—Baptist Times.

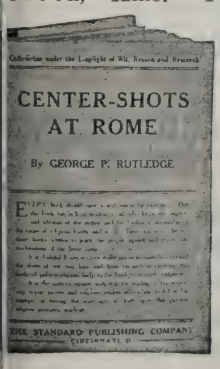
Center-shots at Rome

Cloth, 12mo. Price, postpaid, $1.00.



Catholicism under the limelight of wit, reason and research. Every book should have a real reason for existence. That this book has will be evident to all who know the sincerity and altruism of the author and his fearless championship of the cause of religious liberty and truth. There can never be too many books written to warn the people against and expose the machinations of the Jesuit junta.

It is doubtful if any modern writer has so successfully employed the shafts of wit and logic and keen research in exposing this medieval politico-religious body to the limelight of public judgment.

SAINT-ETIENNE, RABAUT

The Old Cevenol

Art boards, 12mo. Price, postpaid, 75c.

A realistic story of Catholic persecution. The inhuman cruelties that were perpetrated upon the Huguenots by the Roman Catholic Church constitute the story of this volume. The author paints with a master's consummate skill the picture of suffering and misery inflicted upon these people whose only offense was an unalterable determination to worship God in their own way.

This book is deserving of wide circulation, for it is exceptionally timely for the conditions of the day. The message it contains—written in the blood of the martyred Huguenots—warns us to keep inviolate the liberties we have inherited from the sacrifices of our forefathers and to call a halt upon the encroachments on these liberties by the Roman Catholic Church.

SCOFIELD, JUDGE CHARLES J.

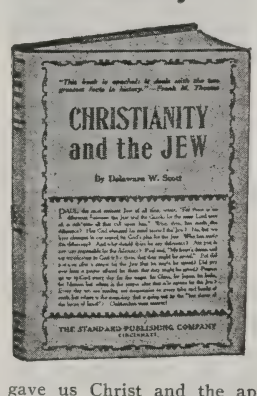
A Subtle Adversary

Cloth, 8vo. Price, postpaid, $1.25.

The "Uncle Tom's Cabin" of the Prohibition Reform. This tale is to the temperance cause what "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was to the cause of antislavery. It is a tale of Sangamon County, Ills., and deals with this intricate problem from the standpoint of a man well versed in every phase of it—through his position on the bench, in the church and as a member of society. There is no better way to spread the cause of temperance than to place such literature in the hands of voters and voters to be. Love, law and political intrigue combine to hold the interest to the end.

SCOTT, DELAWARE W.

Christianity and the Jew



Cloth, 12mo. Price, postpaid, 75c.

In the preface to this volume, Frank M. Thomas makes this strong statement: "This book is epochal; it deals with the two greatest facts in history."

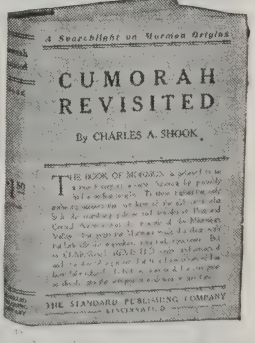
"This book will set our old friend, the Jew, in a new light before the average Gentile. It is a strongly written book, setting forth in part the great debt which Christianity owes to Judaism. It breathes a true Christian spirit. The author wonders why the church is making such great preparation for the conversion of the Chinese, the Japanese, the Indian, and other races and nationalities, and is doing so little for the conversion of the Jews, who gave us Christ and the apostles and the Bible itself. The plea is an appealing one."—United Presbyterian.

This is the most vital book that has been written upon this vital subject.

SHOOK, CHAS. A.

Cumorah Revisited

Cloth, 12mo. Price, postpaid, $1.50.



A searchlight on Mormon origins. The Book of Mormon is believed to be a true history of ancient America by probably half a million people. To them it gives the only authentic account that we have of the old races who built the crumbling palaces and temples of Peru and Central America, and the mounds of the Mississippi Valley. For years the Mormons made this claim with but little effective opposition from their opponents. But in "Cumorah Revisited" every archæological and ethnological argument that they have advanced has been fully refuted. In fact, no other book has ever gone so deeply into the antiquarian evidences as has this. It completely refutes their claims and shows to what extent they have systematically played upon the credulity of a gullible public and to what extent this sect has gone in the way of willful deception in order to mislead the world. This is a vital and important book.

SHOOK, CHAS. A. (Continued)

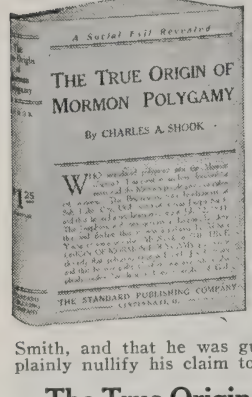
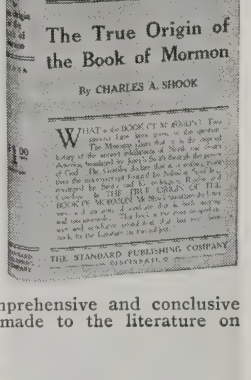
The True Origin of Mormon Polygamy



Cloth, 12mo. Price, postpaid, $1.25.

A social evil revealed. Who introduced polygamy into the Mormon Church? This question has been discussed for years and the Mormon people give two different answers. The Brighamites, with headquarters at Salt Lake City, Utah, say that it was Joseph Smith, and that he had a revelation enjoining it July 12, 1843. The Josephites, with headquarters at Lamoni, Ia., deny this, and declare that it was introduced by Brigham Young or some one else. Mr. Shook, in "The True Origin of Mormon Polygamy," proves conclusively that polygamy originated with Joseph Smith, and that he was guilty of other practices which also plainly nullify his claim to being a prophet of God.

The True Origin of the Book of Mormon



Cloth, 12mo. Price, postpaid, $1.00.

A false revelation exposed. What is the Book of Mormon? Two answers have been given to this question. The Mormons claim that it is the inspired history of the ancient inhabitants of North and South America, translated by Joseph Smith through the power of God. The Gentiles declare that it is nothing more than the manuscript found by Solomon Spaulding, revamped by Smith and his colleagues, Rigdon and Cowdery. In "The True Origin of the Book of Mormon," Mr. Shook maintains the latter view with an array of evidence that is both startling and unanswerable. This book is the most comprehensive and conclusive contribution that has ever been made to the literature on the subject.

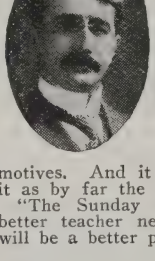
Common Sense

Cloth, 16mo. Price, postpaid, 50c.; paper, 30c.

The second book in the first year of the Advanced Cour of the Standard Teacher Training Series of Text-book



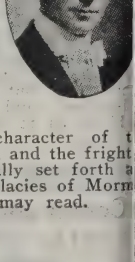
This work is a masterly little treati on practical religious pedagogy and p chology. The title of this book is som what misleading, in that it is not treatise on common sense, but is t special application of that saving co modity to that all-important task, t training of the young, whether in t home, the school or the collegiate insti tion. While it is a treasure to t teacher and the professor, it is, abo all, the book for the parent who fe the responsibility he is under to ma the most of all opportunities to impr the child with right ideas and ri motives. And it is to parents especially that we comme it as by far the best work obtainable for this purpose.

"The Sunday School teacher who studies it will be better teacher next Sunday, and the parent who reads will be a better parent that very day."—W. C. Pearce.

TRAUM, SAMUEL W.

Mormonism Against Itself

Cloth, 12mo. Price, postpaid, $1.00.



The Mormon evil unmasked. Consistency and coherency have been claimed by the Mormons as the chief foundations upon which their belief has been built. That Mormonism is divine, that its founder was inspired, that it carries upon it in plain view the stamp of God's approval, is the boast of all its emissaries. They solicit the most careful and exacting tests for all their teachings. This volume applies the tests. Herein is proven, beyond question or doubt, that the founder of this cult was an imposter, that its teachings are subversive of morals, and its system of theology lacking entirely in the power to appeal to man's rational nature. The insidious character of t modern iniquity is shown in all its ugliness, and the fright blasphemies that it teaches are systematically set forth a rigorously exposed. This expose of the fallacies of Morm teachings is so evident that he who runs may read.

This volume is arranged to meet the needs of the beginner or amateur, especially for those who have limited areas that are available for the purpose.

Few realize the wonderful possibilities of a small piece of ground when cultivated to the limit of its capacity.

The Sandwich System herein described is not an idle theory, but a solid successful fact, the result of years of careful, painstaking experiment, and highly successful efforts in practical vegetable and flower gardening.

BOYLE, Hon. James.

THE MINIMUM WAGE AND SYNDICALISM.

Two great subjects which have suddenly precipitated themselves upon public opinion. There is a marked lack of popular information regarding them. While there is no existing relation between the two, they are both phases of the one overwhelming and disturbing problem of the times—the world-wide unrest and discontent with economic and social conditions. The keynote of this book is an impartial exposition rather than an argument.

As an acknowledged authority on International Socialism, Mr. Boyle is peculiarly qualified to expound the mysteries of that startling and new revolutionary cult which has made such amazing progress among the "proletariat" of Europe and America, called SYNDICALISM.

CAWEIN, Madison.

THE REPUBLIC. A LITTLE BOOK OF HOMESPUN VERSE.

Mr. Cawein's latest volume of Poems was written with a purpose. In it he makes a plea for plain living and high thinking. In the second part of his little volume, which is appropriately named "In Homespun," he gives us something different from anything he has done heretofore. They are little messages of love and hope and cheer. Homely and refreshing as a drink from the old spring, in them a flavor of the soil of Good-will to God and man; and content, no matter what our lot in life.

Our Dean of American Letters, William Dean Howells, says of Mr. Cawein: "He has the gift, in a measure surpassed by no poet, of touching some smallest or commonest thing in nature, and making it live from the manifold associations in which we have our being, and glow thereafter with an inextinguishable beauty."

Review of Reviews: "Mr. Cawein's nature poetry is a vessel brimming with the Elixir of Youth in which our faded roses of remembrance renew once more their pristine freshness and perfume."

MINIONS OF THE MOON.

A Little Book of Song and Story.

In this new book of Poems Mr. Cawein has given us something entirely different from anything ever attempted before in American Verse. He speaks with authority of his American faery. They are the articulate elements which interpret for him the beauty of the world, symbols if you please with which she addresses the soul.

Mr. Cawein has long been sure of his following among those whose judgment really counts and for whom poetry to be real poetry must be a deep interpretation of Nature and the Soul of Man.

Boston Transcript: "It is Mr. Cawein's landscape feeling for nature which constitutes the most abiding contribution of his art to American poetry. In 'Minions of the Moon' we have been given a work of delicate beauty which communicates pleasure, and for this we are duly grateful."

THE YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK.

The World's Greatest Wonderland. America's only Geyser Land.

An entirely new and revised edition with new plates and new illustrations of this remarkable classic of The Yellowstone. Ever since its discovery, more than forty years ago, the Yellowstone Park has grown in popular interest. Its natural wonders surpass anything to be found in like compass elsewhere in the world.

To these attractions have been added others in the form of wonderful mountain roads built by the Government, and a system of hotels and camping facilities which make traveling through the Park a delight quite apart from its scenic interest.

The 1915 edition of The Yellowstone is the most comprehensive book on the Park ever published. It gives a complete history of that region, as well as a full scientific description of its natural wonders. It is also an admirable Guide Book.

SKETCHES OF GREAT PAINTERS.

"Sketches of Great Painters" treats in a biographical and critical way of fifteen great painters. Among these are the pre-eminent old masters, Leonardo, Raphael, Michael Angelo, Titian, Velasquez, Rembrandt, and Rubens; then there are Murillo, Van Dyck, and Reynolds, and the modern Millet, Corot, Turner, Whistler, and Rosa Bonheur.

This book is in no sense a formal history of art, nor does it attempt that thoroughness which is sometimes akin to boredom. But no one can read these "Sketches" now graphically presenting the life and personality of the painter, and then again entertainingly describing one of his masterpieces, without absorbing much valuable information about those great masters of painting, whose art has quickened our appreciation of beauty.

CLARK, BARRETT H.

CONTEMPORARY FRENCH DRAMATISTS.

In "Contemporary French Dramatists" Mr. Barrett H. Clark, author of "The Continental Drama of Today," "The British and American Drama of Today," translator of "Four Plays of the Free Theater," and of various plays of Donnay, Hervieu, Lemaitre, Sardou, Lavedan, etc., has contributed the first collection of studies on the modern French theater. Mr. Clark takes up the chief dramatists of France beginning with the Théâtre Libre: Curel, Brieux, Hervieu, Lemaître, Lavedan, Donnay, Porto-Riche, Rostand, Bataille, Bernstein, Capus, Flers, and Caillavet. The book contains numerous quotations from the chief representative plays of each dramatist, a separate chapter on "Characteristics" and the most complete bibliography to be found anywhere.

This book gives a study of contemporary drama in France which has been more neglected than any other European country.

FOUR PLAYS OF THE FREE THEATER: "THE FOSSILS," "THE SERENADE," "FRANCOISE' LUCK," "THE DUPE."

Authorized Translation—With an Introduction by Barrett H. Clark, and Preface by Brieux of the French Academy.

CONTENTS

Preface.....Brieux
Antoine and the Free Theatre, Barrett H. Clark
The Fossils.—A Play in Four Acts, Francois de Curel
The Serenade.—A Burgeois Study in Three Acts.....Jean Jullien
Francoise' Luck.—A Comedy in One Act, Georges de Porto-Riche
The Dupe.—A Comedy in Five Acts, Georges Ancey

Brieux says: "Antoine . . . it was who for the first time introduced to the public a large number of dramatists hitherto unknown, many of whom it is certain would otherwise never have had a hearing. He was the first to bring Ibsen to France, and François de Curel into international renown. Antoine showed us greater and finer possibilities in staging. . . . He reduced the number of stage conventions, he encouraged and successfully produced the works of new authors, and taught the general public to look for and appreciate dramatic work of better quality and nobler inspiration than that to which it had as a rule been accustomed."

Brander Matthews says: "The book is welcome to all students of the modern stage. It contains the fullest account of the activities of Antoine's Free Theater to be found anywhere—even in French."

The Author is Professor of English in the University of Tennessee. He has contributed frequently to many of the American and Canadian Magazines, has written several critical Monographs, edited Bacon's Essays, also has edited a volume of Selections from Shelley.

The Poems contained in this volume have appeared for the most part during the last decade and have been received with such critical favor they are now collected in this more permanent form.

Louisville Times: "His work contains real merit and a very high standard of poetic inspiration. . . . The volume itself is a splendid piece of bookmaking."

Literary Digest: "Professor George Herbert Clarke, of the University of Tennessee, shows in his verse none of the aloofness from humanity which sometimes mars the work of poets who write in academic seclusion. His book, "At the Shrine, and Other Poems," contains many poems of thoughtful beauty."

CROZIER, ALFRED OWEN

NATION OF NATIONS—New Plan to Stop War and Insure Permanent Peace.

In this volume the author presents in detail the first and only definite and practical plan for solving the great problem of peace and war. He includes draft of a complete Supreme Constitution and framework for a "Nation of Nations" that shall, with its own military and naval forces, or "police power," protect all supporting nations against unjust attack and guard the world's peace forever.

The book gives in full the plan of the "League to Enforce Peace, American Branch," of which former President Taft is the head, organized June 17, 1915, and compares and contrasts it with the "Crozier plan" for a "Nation of Nations." It holds that the former provides for a universal "entangling alliance" based on mere unenforceable treaties, while the latter would have a new, separate Government of governments that must regulate with its own forces and could not drag other nations into war.

MacMILLAN, Mary.

SHORT PLAYS.

To fill a long-felt want. All have been successfully presented. Suitable for Women's Clubs, Girls' Schools, etc. While elaborate enough for big presentation, they may be given very simply.

Review of Reviews: "Mary MacMillan offers 'Short Plays,' a collection of pleasant one- to three-act plays for women's clubs, girls' schools, and home parlor production. Some are pure comedies, others gentle satires on women's faults and foibles. 'The Futurists,' a skit on a woman's club in the year 1882, is highly amusing. 'Entr' Act' is a charming trifle that brings two quarreling lovers together through a ridiculous private theatrical. 'The Ring' carries us gracefully back to the days of Shakespeare; and 'The Shadowed Star,' the best of the collection, is a Christmas Eve tragedy. The Star is shadowed by our thoughtless inhumanity to those who serve us and our forgetfulness of the needy. The Old Woman, gone daft, who babbles in a kind of mongrel Kiltartan, of the Shepherds, the Blessed Babe, of the Fairies, rowan berries, roses and dancing, while her daughter dies on Christmas Eve, is a splendid characterization."

SUMMER IN A BOG.

The out-of-doors by one who loves it, is here transcribed realistically. The majesty and mystery of Nature mingled with the humor of every-day life.

Originality marks the pages of "Summer in a Bog" and it is at once apparent that the author takes rank with such writers as David Grayson and Gene Stratton-Porter. A book to entertain and to instruct. Almost unaware, facts of science are absorbed which point the way to further acquirement.

The most casual reader may find amusement in its pages, while the student will give it a place on the shelf beside appreciated works of reference. 12mo. Artistically bound. Handsomely printed.....Net $1 25

SMITH, Wm. C.

HOW TO GROW 100 BUSHELS OF CORN PER ACRE ON WORN SOIL.

This volume, as the title suggests, will prove of inestimable value, and if its teachings are followed by the farmers throughout the country, it will revolutionize the art of farming and make it a most profitable business. As one man says: "You make conservation of the soil plain and practical. You present a difficult problem in such a good, commonsense way."

Boston Transcript: "The author is a determined enemy of the soil robber. . . . To the possessor of worn-out land Mr. Smith offers the fruits of long experience, and he has certainly accomplished wonders. He treats exhaustively of soil, drainage, organic matter, ventilation, soil covering, etc. . . . His chapter of 'Don't Forgets' is a rich garden of agricultural epigrams, and not the least forceful warns the farmer: 'Don't forget that the soil-robber is the highwayman of agriculture.'"

SMITH, Wm. C.

THE BUSINESS OF FARMING.

The Preface of this splendid new volume by Mr. Smith contains a history of the science of farming from the dawn of creation down to the present time.

Among the chapters following this are "By-Products of the Farm;" "Utility and Conservation;" "Bookkeeping on the Farm;" "Care of Farm Machinery;" "Real Cost of Operation, Shipping, and Marketing Products;" "The Net Results Gained in Utilizing Your Farm Products, in the Feeding of Cattle, Hogs, and Sheep;" "Back to the Land Movement;" "Staying on the Farm," and many other valuable chapters.

The book deals with every phase and feature of the farm.

Practical Farmer, Philadelphia: "In these days of intensive farming, lots of brains must be used in connection with brawn, and this work is exceptionally well fitted to give great assistance. It treats of farming as a business, and the practical farmer can get much help from it. This book will also appeal to the layman who wishes to make a study of farming principles and conditions before he actually makes the farm his business."

STEWART, Dr. Thomas M.

SYMBOLIC TEACHING: OR MASONRY AND ITS MESSAGE.

While this is a book of Essays having the Ancient and accepted order of Freemasonry as a basis, it is quite different from other books of its kind in that it goes to the heart of things. It carries conviction because the appeal is to one's own power of reasoning and intuition. The exercise of these faculties in reading even one of the Essays instills a desire to follow the golden thread of Ariadne which runs throughout the whole series.

The volume also contains a comprehensive bibliography of books on Symbolism.

Boston Transcript: " . . . Masons of all degrees will find a new and deeper meaning in the Craft if they read carefully this work written by a Past Master who obviously has been a thorough student of Symbolic Masonry and who obviously has taken it seriously. . . ."

STOTT, Prof. Roscoe Gilmore.

THE MAN SINGS.

A volume of poetry marked by a spirit of frankness, the love of the human, and abiding reverence for the Creator. Written with the spontaneity that is the greatest charm of such lyrics.

The Poems are given a very artistic setting that attracts and pleases.

Chicago Herald: "Mr. Stott is a manly singer. His poems are worth sympathetic attention. 'The Gypsy's Song' and 'Winds O'March, etc.,' have vagrant appeal both wistful and charming. 'Defending of all the Marys,' strikes a note of deep pathos."

STRINDBERG, August. LUCKY PEHR.

Translated from the Swedish by Velma Swanston Howard. An Allegorical Drama in Five Acts. Compared favorably to Barrie's "Peter Pan" and Maeterlinck's "The Blue Bird." This translation is authorized. Photogravure frontispiece of Strindberg etched by Zorn. Also, a reproduction of Velma Swanston Howard's authorization.

Worcester Gazette: "From a city of Ohio comes this product of Swedish fancy in most attractive attire, attesting that the possibilities of dramatic art have not entirely ceased in this age of vaudeville and moving pictures.

A great sermon in altruism is preached in these pages, which we would that millions might see and hear. To those who think or would like to think, "Lucky Pehr" will prove a most readable book. * * * An allegory, it is true, but so are Æsop's Fables, the Parables of the Scriptures and many others of the most effective lessons ever given."

EASTER, A PLAY IN THREE ACTS.

Photogravure frontispiece of Strindberg etched by Zorn. Also, a reproduction of Velma Swanston Howard's authorization.

The Nation: "Those who like the variety of symbolism which Maeterlinck has often employed—most notably in the "Blue Bird"—will turn with pleasure to the short stories of Strindberg which Mrs. Howard has included in her volume. * * * They are one and all diverting on account of the author's facility in dealing with fanciful details."

VENABLE, Emerson.
THE HAMLET PROBLEM AND ITS SOLUTION.

The tragedy of Hamlet has never been adequately interpreted. Two hundred years of critical discussion has not sufficed to reconcile conflicting impressions regarding the scope of Shakespeare's design in this, the first of his great philosophic tragedies. We believe that all those students who are interested in the study of Shakespeare will find this volume of great value.

E. H. Sothern: "Your ideas of Hamlet so entirely agree with my own that the book has been a real delight to me. I have always had exactly this feeling about the character of Hamlet. I think you have wiped away a great many cobwebs, and I believe your book will prove to be most convincing to many people who may yet be a trifle in the dark."

B O O K S

pologetic of Modern Missions, The

By J. Lovell Murray. Paper, 25 cents.

An outline course investigating the more common criticisms of foreign missions, their agents, methods and results. The objections are fairly stated, and abundant references are indicated both pro and contra, the student being left to draw his own conclusions.

ibliography of Missionary Literature. (With Supplement—1914.)

Compiled by J. Lovell Murray. 52 pages; paper, 35 cents.

all of the Home Land, The (Revised 1910)

By A. L. Phillips. 12mo, 173 pp.; paper, 35 cts. (Add 5 cents for postage.)

all, Qualifications, and Preparation of Candidates for Missionary Service, The Papers by missionaries and other authorities. Of special value to missionary candidates. 12mo, 248 pp.; paper, 35 cents; cloth, 50 cents.

This is not a systematic treatise on the call, qualifications, and preparation of candidates for foreign missionary service. It is simply a collection of papers prepared for periodicals and magazines, and for the conventions of the Student Volunteer Movement, by such authors as Mr. Robert E. Speer, Dr. Jacob Chamberlain, Dr. Henry Jessup, Mr. Eugene Stock, Bishop Thoburn, Prof. Harlan P. Beach, Dr. Gulick, Archdeacon Moule and others.—The Missionary Review of the World.

andidates in Waiting

A manual of Home Preparation for Foreign Missionary Work. By Georgiana A. Gollock. Cloth, 50 cents. (Add 5 cents for postage.)

This is elementary in character and especially good for those who are not college graduates.

Challenge to Christian Missions, The

By R. E. Welsh. Paper, 35 cents; cloth, $1.00.

Straight to the point, and convincing replies to critics of foreign missions, answering the challenge that the work is politically objectionable, religiously superfluous, and in its outcome morally and socially unsatisfactory.

Chinese Revolution, The

By Arthur J. Brown. Illustrations, map, index. 210 pages; paper, 50 cents; cloth, 75 cents.

An illuminating review of the present situation in China; considers the economic, social, educational and religious changes which are ushering in China's new day.

Counsel to New Missionaries

From older missionaries. Board covers, 12mo, 145 pp.; 20 cents. (Add 5 cents for postage.)

"This is a book of personal counsel; all of its chapters were written by experienced missionaries, who place at the disposal of new missionaries some of their invaluable experience. This little volume was published with the hope and prayer that young men and women going out to the field may be helped by reading it to be better, happier, and more fruitful servants of Jesus Christ, our Lord."

Daybreak in Turkey

Decision of Character

By John Foster. (With introductory note by John R. Mott.) 12mo, 64 pp.; paper, 25 cents; cloth, 50 cents.

In his introductory note Mr. Mott says: "While an undergraduate I made a careful study of this remarkably helpful essay. Since then I have re-read it many times, and have no hesitation in saying that it has exerted a greater influence on my mental habits than anything else I have ever read or heard. As this paper is being recommended constantly to students, its publication in this convenient form by the Student Volunteer Movement is welcomed most heartily."

Decisive Hour of Christian Missions, The

By John R. Mott. 12mo, 239 pp.; illustrations, map. Mission Study edition, paper, 35 cents; cloth, 50 cents.

This book is packed with the latest data on mission problems and it gives the conclusions of the author's long study of these questions. A reading of the book produces the inevitable conviction that conditions in the non-Christian nations are such as to warrant the belief that there never has been, and it is hard to see how there will be again, such an opportunity confronting the Church. The book is a powerful appeal for action, a veritable call to arms. It is especially adapted for use as a Mission Study textbook.

Evangelization of the World in This Generation, The

By John R. Mott. Bibliography, analytical index. 12mo, 245 pp.; paper, 35 cents; cloth, decorated, gilt top, $1.00.

It is doubtful whether any missionary volume hitherto published can compare with it in strength of argument and in prophetic vision. It is stimulating, lucid, and convincing, addressing itself not to the emotions, but to the judgment; yet it is so spiritual in tone and purpose that it encourages and inspires the reader. No prospective leader of public sentiment in Church or State can afford to lose this course of study.—The Sunday School Times.

Findings of the Continuation Committee Conferences Held in Asia, 1912-1913, under the Chairmanship of John R. Mott.

Arranged by Topics. With General and Chapter Introductions by Harlan P. Beach. 432 pp. 1914. $1.75.

Of special value to students of missionary problems and policies. The practical experiences and judgment of 1,200 missionary statesmen of Asia lie back of the conclusions reached at these conferences. The arrangement of the material is by topics, so that the findings of all the conferences on a given subject are arranged together in the same chapter. Its carefully p pared index increases the usefulness of the v ume.

It also deals with such vital questions as:

What type or phase of work should recei chief emphasis in the field?

What special preparation should missionar have before leaving the home lands?

What Christian literature is most urgen needed;

(1) for Christians,

(2) for the educated non-Christians.

(3) for the less educated non-Christians.

slam: A Challenge to Faith

By Samuel M. Zwemer. Statistical tables, maps, charts, index, bibliography; Mission Study Class Edition, paper, 35 cents; cloth, 50 cents. Library Edition, $1.00.

This book, by a scholarly missionary, still in the vigor of youth, is excellent in every respect, a model in book-making, so far as introductory matter, text, illustrations, arrangement, bibliography, and indexing are concerned. It is an ideal handbook for study, with maps, statistics, and all the apparatus for a careful examination of the subject. The needs and opportunities of the Mohammedan world from the standpoint of Christian missions is shown, and a flood of light is shed, that dissipates much of the mystery and romance about the rise of Mohammed and the religion named after him, and which makes obsolete much matter in the old encyclopedias.

New Voice in Race Adjustments

Edited by A. M. Trawick. 230 pp. (6 x 9); bibliography, index; paper, 50 cents; cloth, 75 cents.

"It is a well-edited collection of the addresses and reports presented at the Negro Christian Student Conference, Atlanta, Ga., May 14-18, 1914. They are of special value and significance because they are the expression of a truly new voice in race adjustments in the South. Practically every phase of the religious and social life of the Negro is considered, together with the coöperation now taking place between white and colored people for the improvement of conditions. The discussions are frank, critical, and in many cases highly suggestive of methods for remedying the evils freely exposed by both white and colored speakers."—The Southern Workman.

Present World Situation, The

By John R. Mott. 12mo, 249 pp., fully indexed; cloth, $1.00; paper, 50 cents; Library edition, gilt top, crown octavo, $1.25.

No more timely book could be offered to those interested in the world's evangelization. Broad questions of statesmanship and strategy are discussed as they relate not only to direct missionary operations, but also to the whole large problem of Christianizing all the relations between nations. Emphasis may well be laid during 1915-1916 upon this book.

"It is a book by a man of thought for men of action. The style is the characteristic expression of the man who writes it: ardent, alert, virile, athletic, arraying facts and forces with a reach and command that belongs to the leaders of men."—Outlook of Missions.

The Price is $2.50 a volume in Three-quarter Leather, and $1.50 a volume in Cloth.

These charts make visible and real the earthly life of our Lord by localizing its historical facts and features, which are harmonized with the gospel story thereof, thus helpfully connecting time, place and event. Harmony and charts are interdependent, and make up the author's "visible method" of teaching history and applying it to the Gospel narratives.

There is also included an abundant bibliography of books to consult, a pronouncing and explanatory dictionary of proper names, lists of the miracles and parables of Jesus, an outline of the Jewish Calendar, a diagram of the Herodian Family, and a brief record of the Twelve Apostles.

This is destined to become a standard work, necessary to every Bible student's equipment. $1.00.

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO SCIENCE SERIES

Under editorial management of
ELIAKIM HASTINGS MOORE, JOHN MERLE COULTER, and ROBERT ANDREWS MILLIKAN

The University of Chicago Science Series owes its origin to the feeling that there should be a medium of publication occupying a position between the technical journals with their short articles and the elaborate treatises which attempt to cover several or all aspects of a wide field. The volumes of the series will differ from the discussions generally appearing in technical journals in that they will present the complete results of an experiment or series of investigations which have previously appeared only in scattered articles, if published at all. On the other hand, they will differ from detailed treatises by confining themselves to specific problems of current interest and in presenting the subject in as summary a manner and with as little technical detail as is consistent with sound method. The size of the volumes will range from fifty to one hundred and fifty pages.

The Evolution of Sex in Plants, by JOHN MERLE COULTER, is the first published volume of the series. (See p. 27.)
